Managing school business is the best job in the world.

Let the Association of School Business Officials International show you why.

"ASBO International is an excellent organization with many opportunities for professional growth for the school business community. One of the best things about ASBO membership is that the association keeps changing and growing with the times."

Jane Trammell, Chief Finance Officer
Texhoma Independent School District (TX)

How many people can say they make a difference in the education of thousands of students every day of every year? You can!

As a school business manager, you advocate for every student in your district. You make sure they have a way to get to school, textbooks and supplies when they get there, and a safe and stimulating environment in which to learn and grow. You work every day to ensure they have nutritious meals, up-to-date technology, and a healthy building.

That's just a slice of your role in promoting education in your district. You also manage employee health and compensation plans, ensure compliance with education legislation, oversee allocation of resources, work with the community, and so much more.

Every advocate needs an advocate—and that's the role of the Association of School Business Officials International (ASBO). We are here to provide the resources, connections, and opportunities you need to do your job effectively.

Resources

ASBO provides the resources, tools, and knowledge you need to develop energy-saving strategies, institute efficient accounting and budgeting systems, manage risk, manage your facilities, implement your 403(b) plan, make strategic benefit decisions in an era of healthcare reform, and so much more. It's all here for you. Simply pick up a School Business Affairs magazine, visit the Website, attend a workshop or conference, take advantage of ASBO's Live Learning Center, or participate in ASBO's ConnectEd where the best minds in school business come together to share information and find solutions to common challenges.

Connections

When you join ASBO International, you join more than 5,000 leaders in the profession who face the same challenges, celebrate the same triumphs, and share your commitment to ensuring a quality education for all students. Connect with your colleagues across the globe and tap into the expertise of our professional committees. Learn first-hand how school business officials are making a difference in schools and in the community with best practices and proven strategies.

Opportunities

ASBO's professional development programs help you stay up to date on what's happening in the profession, add continuing education credits to your resume, and increase your credibility through recognition programs. ASBO offers opportunities for you to grow personally and professionally.

"Thank you for the opportunity to align myself with a great organization!"

Brian K. O'Keeffe
Director of Business & Finance
Chicago Heights, IL

Making the Best Better

"ASBO membership presents opportunities for competition, professional recognition, and access to educational forums. These opportunities enhance my ability to make profound decisions about school business issues and improve my leadership ability."

John H. Ford, CM
Director of Financial Operations
Metropolitan Nashville Public Schools (TN)

School business management is the best job in the world, and ASBO is focused on making it even better through unique benefits for our members, including:

SFO® Certification Program

Whether you want to strengthen your career by demonstrating your professional competencies, continue your professional development, or show your stakeholders that you have the know-how to support them, the Certified Administrator of School Finance and Operations® (SFO®) program is for you. This certification will follow you anywhere in North America.

ConnectEd

ASBO members now have their own online networking tool. With ConnectEd, you can create a profile, communicate with other members worldwide, share files, blog, and stay connected to the profession and to each other.

Targeted Professional Development

The ASBO Annual Meeting & Expo and the Executive Leadership Forum are where you'll find professional development targeted specifically to meet your needs. Every year, school business professionals gather to share best practices, learn from recognized leaders in the field of education, and get the tools they need to be more effective and efficient school business leaders.

Your Profession, Your Community, Your Association

For 100 years, ASBO International has served as the premiere association for school business professionals. If you believe in giving all students the opportunity for a quality education through effective management of resources, ASBO is the right association for you.

Join ASBO International today. Help shape the profession and ensure a bright future for our young people.
